POLITICAL DOPE FROM JEFF. CITY

GUBERNATORIAL DERBY IS BECOMING INTERESTING.

MAYER GAINS STRENGTH

Several Clubs Organized in South Missouri for Popular St. Joseph Man.

Jefferson City, Ma 18.—The democratic gubernatorial derby with five entries and the nomination as the reward for the "Only Reliable Party" warhorse covering the most territory and gathering in the most votes on primary day, has reached the stage where it is becoming interesting. Those entered with the avowed determination at the present moment of remaining in the running until the home stretch is reached and passed are: Lieutenant-Governor Wallace Crossley of Warrensburg, Representative Frank H. Farris of Phelps County, Judge and former State Senator Charles H. Mayer of St. Joseph, John M. Atkinson of St. Louis, former Representative from Ripley County and Speaker of the House, and last but not least, Col. Ruby D. Garrett of Kansas City, who, as a member of the famous Rainbow Division arose from the rank of a private and was honorably demobilized as a high ranking officer after being cited and decorated in France for valorous services. Internal Revenue Collector George H. Moore of St. Louis, who had a good early start in the gubernatorial sweepstakes, but who, so far, as not regularly listed through paying the official filing fee, will announce definitely and finally what his intentions are.

Democratic State Committee Meets in Jefferson City.

The conference of the Democratic State Committee in Jefferson City Thursday it is thought will have no effect on the party race for the nomination for Governor. The five candidates have been invited to attend and take an active part in the deliberations to formulate a program which will insure a sweeping victory for the final ticket at the November election.

A few days ago Joseph B. Shannon, one of the two State Committeemen from the Fifth Congressional District, which is Kansas City, while in the Capitol City on a visit imparted the information to friends that Floyd Jacobs of that end of Missouri, would make a splendid gubernatorial compromise candidate and that there still was a chance of persuading him to file for the nomination. It however, is pointed out that if he gets into the running as the sixth aspirant, it will only further complicate matters.

Judge Mayer Makes a Favorable Impression.

Judge Mayer has been very active and covered extensive territory in South Missouri since the Democratic State Convention at Joplin over a month ago. The impression he made was favorable, judging from the comment of leading democratic papers which heralded his arrival and departure everywhere he visited. The Mayer-for-Governor movement assumed such strength in many South Missouri democratic strongholds that clubs were launched to look after his candidacy. Dunklin, Pemiscot, Mississippi, New Madrid, St. Francois Scott and Stoddard counties are among those the St. Joseph condidate took by storm and on primary day it will be found that his trip there was worth while. These counties are the ones in which Atkinson expects to gain the lead he needs to overcome the votes the liberal democratic of Missouri cities will pile up for the candidate they finally center on.

Col. Ruby D. Garrett not Overlooked.

Col. Ruby D. Garrett, the Kansas City soldier-lawyer has friends in South Missouri who are not overlooking the fact that he is still in the race. Two or three day ago thirty influential democratic of Springfield suddenly inaugurated an active campaign in his behalf in that city through organizing a Garrett-for-Governor club. Dr. H. A. Lowe was elected president. The Springfield Leader, which recently favorably devoted a leading editorial to the candidacy of Col. Garrett, ran an article detailing this Springfield movement in behalf of the candidacy of the soldier-lawyer on the first page under big headlines. The Springfield club is the thirty-third organized in Missouri to further the candidacy of Col. Garrett. Judge Mayer and Representative Farris also have similar campaign clubs scattered over Missouri which are as active.

Each of the five democratic candidates for governor have at least two or three newspapers which are looking after their political welfares. The Democrat-Tribune of Jefferson City and Omar Gray's Sturgeon Leader are for Judge Mayer and are not overlooking any opportunity to give him publicity. The Kansas City Post is keeping its readers informed on the movements of Col. Garrett. The Warrensburg Star-Journal is constantly warmly espousing the candidacy of Lieutenant-Governor Crossley and the Rolla Herald is among the papers of South Missouri which are keeping the lime light. Atkinson has several staunch democratic organs which promulgate his doctrines and chances of success.

After the primary result has told the tale which will bring so much joy and make life worth living for one of the five candidates and suppiant the hopes of the other four with sorrow and gloom, every one of the 400 democratic papers of the state will be found on the firing line for the entire democratic ticket.

BOND ISSUE FOR BRIDGES NEEDED

JUDGE BAILEY OF COUNTY COURT SAYS WORK CAN'T GO ON.

URGES A $500,000 ISSUE

Bridge Fund Has Now Over $60,000 of the Outstanding Warrants Against It.

"Unless a bond issue is voted in Nodaway county soon for bridges there will be no work done on putting in new bridges or to repair old ones. Outside of seven bridges which the court has promised I am not in favor of putting in any more bridges this year on account of the lack of revenues."

Such was the statement of Judge E. T. Bailey, presiding judge of the county court, today. Continuing, Judge Bailey said:

"A bond issue of $500,000 ought to be submitted to the people and if it should carry ought to be spent on bridges in each township of the county, according to the amount they pay on it. This way each township would receive their proportionate share and would be sufficient to put the bridges in good shape. The revenues received from taxation from other sources then would be used to pay off all of the outstanding warrants on the bridge fund."

For the year ending April 30, 1920, out of the total revenues of the county received from taxation, $103,657.01, $53,238.46 of this amount was put into the bridge fund. During the year ending April 30, 1920, $61,991.99 in warrants were issued and in addition $3,588.66 was spent in interest on outstanding warrants.

On May 1, 1920, the outstanding warrants of the bridge fund amounted to $60,231.92. It will take practically all of the coming year taxes to pay off these warrants, leaving nothing to spend for bridge work.

The bridges which have been promised by the court are three in Washington township, three in Independence township, and a bridge in Nodaway township by the O. F. Wilson farm. Judge Bailey estimated it would take about $4,000 to put in these bridges.

Judge Bailey stated he was not in favor of putting in a new bridge over the new channel of the Nodaway, just west of Burlington Junction, which was washed out last week by the high water, on account of lack of money. Such a bridge as was proposed which would be 18-foot driveway, would cost in the neighborhood of $10,000.

Nearly all of the men wanting new bridges are insisting on the best and for an 18-foot driveway.

The court has six carloads of bridge lumber which it is thought will keep a number of bridges in repair for the coming year.

The bridge fund of the county has been greatly overdrawn for a number of years past. It is getting worse and worse on account of the high cost of materials, labor and everything.

Judge Bailey also stated he is making quite a sacrifice by holding his office and unless some more money is given to the court in which to accomplish bridge work he will resign.

A movement for a county bridge bond issue has been discussed a number of times. It is expected that a meeting will be held soon to discuss the matter.

OMAHA SHOPPERS RUSHED TO BUY REDUCED GOODS

Omaha Citizens Treated to a Sample of the Low Cost of Living as Result of Price Cutting War.

Omaha, May 18.—As the result of a price cutting war among the big department stores of this city, Omaha citizens were yesterday treated to a sample of the low cost of living, the first in several years. As a still further result, Omaha indulged in a regular orgy of buying the things which it has been unable to purchase for months and months.

Three big department stores yesterday morning cut prices 20 per cent on everything except patented lines. The biggest department store in the city, which was not among the price cutters, at 10 o'clock posted a notice that without a single exception everything in the store was cut 30 per cent. At noon two other big stores got in the fight and cut 30 to 50 per cent. These figures are bona fide and were not fake sales. When business closed last night there were rumors that still greater reductions would be made today.

And, for hours and hours yesterday, Omaha simply reveled in shopping at the slashed prices. Several times police were called to preserve order. Show cases were broken, counters overturned and near-riots started several times. Special rules made by the stores early in the day were all called off by noon. Nationally advertised goods of all kinds went on sale under the reduction the same as other goods.

PRESIDENT'S TRIBUTE TO THE DEAD HEROES

Washington, May 18.—"The dedication of the national memorial at Arlington closes and commits to history a great episode in the making of the nation," President Wilson said in a message read at the dedication ceremonies Saturday by Secretary of War Baker.

"Gathered into this national cemetery, and elsewhere," the President said, "are most of the men who fought out the constitutional questions insoluble by other processes, and now the government has set this great and beautiful building to stand like a sentinel on the banks of the Potomac and to view for all time the capital of the re-united nation.

"Time has thrown its softening influences over the controversy. Time had eliminated the bitterness which that controversy aroused, but time has only served to magnify the heroic valor of the captains and men who fought the great fight. As the nation arose, re-united, it found itself blessed with a great tradition. In these later days, that tradition has nerved the arms of millions of Americans called upon to vindicate upon foreign fields of battle the principles of political liberty. Who shall say whence the strength came of these matchless men? From every corner of our great country they came with one thought; that of devotion to the pure purpose for which their country called them. They lived among our allies and faced the foe as soldiers from the new world should conscious of their strength, confident of their cause alike unselfish and unconquerable. And I like to think that in our hour of triump unseen, but potent, there stood beside them the spirits of the great dead, the spirits of those who originally rescued America from the political tyrannies of the old world and dedicated and kept her free and just.

"I cannot attend the ceremony of this dedication, but my heart is there, and with my fellow countrymen everywhere I join in great recognition of the virtues which this memorial commemorates and in reverent thanks to the God of nations that he has made it possible for us in this day to show the world that America is still baptized with a spirit of her founders and builders."

"Home brew" beer may subject the manufacturer to arrest and prosecution in the federal court. Local revenue officers say many persons are bottling the home made beer because they are ignorant of the law, which prohibits the brewing of beer for personal or commercial use. Unless the practice ceases, the government men warn, there will be numerous arrests. Man families, it is said, have purchased special utensils to manufacture the fluid, without knowing they intended a law violation.

Statistics compiled by C. M. Wood, in charge of the newly-created Good Roads Bureau of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company show that the total amount proposed and authorized for road improvement in the United States is 126,895,529.

SUUPLUS WOMAN HAS OWN IDEAS ABOUT "UNDESIRABLES"

London.—"Leave us alone. We're all right," comes the exasperated wail of one Rachel Ferguson, who admits she may be a surplus woman, but who, nevertheless, draws her own blacklist of "women who would not be missed."

The surplus woman discussion has been too much for Rachel's patience, and she says as much in the Daily Sketch.

"If to be unmarried renders you superfluous," she writes, "then the war has created a great number of superfluous men—young fellows who cannot keep themselves, let alone a wife."

Then this is her list:

"To my mind the women truly falling under this head are those who are 'catty' to their fellow women, the scandal mongers, the sleek matinee-going, bargain-hunting, never-rise-until-eleven-ers, the willing loafers through life."

"To them add the woman who marries for comfort and refuses to have children (without having made her intentions plain to the man and giving him a chance to escape her), because babies will interfere with jazz teas and eat up money she wants for hats.

"And don't forget the woman without a sense of humor, who is perhaps the most subtly superfluous of the lot being neither a completed human being nor a satisfactory citizen of the world."

LEST WE FORGET.

In 1873 Dr. Lewis gave a lecture in Hillsboro, Ohio in which he related how his mother, crucified by the liquor business, had gone to the saloon keeper and prayed and induced them to stop selling liquor. He declared his belief that the women of the land could, by prayer and petition, shut up the saloons.

This declaration took root in the hearts of the Christian women of the little town, and next day they organized and with faith and prayer started out on a mission against the liquor traffic, which has culminated in the Constitutional Amendment prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicants in all our land. At first they visited saloons, prayed, sang and exhorted, and many closed their doors under their pleas. The Crusade spread and opposition met them. In some places, women maddened by the sorrows and wrongs heaped upon them by the liquor business, became violent and broke open barrels and bottles. But the Christian ladies who were always in the majority used nothing but the weapons of God's word and prayer. They were often denied entrance to the saloons, and knelt in the snow and mud of the streets and prayed and exhorted the keepers of the saloons and their victims to ease their wicked and dangerous business.

BANDMASTER WEBER TO BE AT THE CHAUTAUQUA HERE

One of the Leading Bandmasters in America to be on the Program for Maryville Assembly.

John C. Weber, the American bandmaster, who is being brought to Chautauqua this summer with his prize Band of America, is another great leader like Thaviu and Kryl whom the Redpath Vawter people brought to their circuit in years past.

For seventeen years Mr. Weber has been looked upon by the Eastern cities as one of the leading bandmasters in America. National band contests were held at St. Louis and Baltimore, and in all cases Weber's artists carried off first prize. Last summer their chautauqua time was taken by the big Centenary Celebration at Columbus, where they played before an aggregate attendance of 1,000,000 people. All the world's fairs and state fairs, and expositions in both Canada and the United States are numbered in Weber's long list of engagements.

Most people point out two things as contributing factors in making the Weber Band so popular. In the first place, all the musicians are artists in the famous Cincinnati Symphony orchestra, and are therefore the highest type of band musicians on the market. As the Chicago Tribune says, "Containing the best material, they are able to produce a quality of tone exceptionally fine and pure." In the second place, Weber is generous with his encores. The Des Moines Register points out that they "merit the title of 'The Encore Band.'" For the chautauqua program, Weber has planned from sixteen to twenty encore numbers each for afternoon and evening concerts.

Miss Katcherine Hoch, American soprano, is on tour with the band and will give solos during the program. Enrico Caruso pronounces her voice, one of the best he has ever heard. Miss Lula McClellan whistling soloist, also is a feature numbered on the program.

All in all, the greatest day for the whole countryside promises to be Chautauqua Band Day.

Because of the enormous number of persons reported by physicians as being infected with social diseases the United States Public Health Service has established a system of clinics in the most popular centers of the State to treat infected persons. It is the purpose of the Service to see that every infected person in the State is treated until rendered non-infectious or cured. This is a large Undertaking, but it can be done. Free clinics have been established at St. Louis, Kansas City, Joplin, Springfield and Jefferson City. Others will be opened as the work progresses.

"BANISH DUST" IS THE AIM IN HEALTH CAMPAIGN

Dirty Streets and Roofs in Cities and Towns Must Go, Authorities' Verdict.

War to the finish on "Dust, the Disease Spreader," has been declared and dirty streets and roofs are coming under the ban in municipalities and towns everywhere, in the intensive campaign better to safeguard the health of the public.

Health bureau heads, sanitary experts, public officials and physicians more and more are turning to the problem of dust prevention. Cleaner highways, sidewalks, public squares, alleys, buildings and roofs are being urged in the annual spring "clean-up" drives which are an established thing in many cities.

While "cleaner streets" long has been a slogan, the linking up of roofs in the drive is comparatively new. Leading authorities on public health are directing attention to the evils of dirty, dusty roofs on homes, office buildings, factories, theatres and other structures.

Householders hold in their hands the solution of the problem of better health, according to health experts. Concerted efforts to rid cities of the refuse which has been collecting, perhaps for months, in cellars and back yards, are producing results.

For years the standard roof in cities was of tin. The frequent rains washed such surfaces, and the problem of dirty roofs was unknown. The practice of coating roofs with pebbles and other forms of stone has increased, until today many buildings, especially large industrial establishments, carry upon their roofs hundreds of pounds of stone.

The problem of dust prevention has been complicated by such roofs. From them particles fall or are blown, to sift into the street below, or lodge in the eyes or mouths of pedestrians, sanitary point out. The dirt from such roofs forms no small part of the street dust which is churned into pernicious activity every time a motor car or team passes over the street.

Steps to curtail the construction of such roofs are being considered in many places. It is pointed out that the old idea that a pebble-coated roof alone was fire-resisting has been exploded by experiments, and the experiences with smooth surface roofs in conflagrations. Hundreds of big plants and other structures have been erected recently without the rough coaing used a decade ago, and the extention of this practice is urged as one of the means of helping keep cities "Cleaned-Up" all year.

JUDGE MAKES ERRONEOUS PREDICTION REGARDING LAWYER.

"About one clean shirt is all I thought he would ever wear. He had fallen away to a mere shadow; was as yellow as saffron and often doubled up with pain. Doctors continually gave him morphine and were about to cpearte for gall stones. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy quickly restored him to perfect health again." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis.
